Cross Country ready to build on successful season

ALEX BOYER
ALEX@LACLEDERECORD.COM

There will be more than 40 runners out this year for the Lebanon High School cross country team this fall after the team sent one runner to State last season.

The team graduated three key seniors in Zach Jamieson (multiple time Sectional qualifier, team captain), Carrie Coffman (Sectional qualifier, 2019 Valedictorian), and Tyra Rogers (leader on the girls' side).

According to second-year head coach Josh Smith, this year will look different in the XC scene in Missouri.

"This season, cross country is getting a shakeup," he mentioned. "We are moving from four to five classes. We may be at the bottom of Missouri Class 5 or the top of Class 4 in school size.

"We are getting rid of sectionals. We will run a district meet, and the top two teams and top 15 individuals will qualify for the state meet in Columbia. We are ready to face these changes, and all the other challenges this season will bring."

Returning runners for the Yellowjackets will include junior Juliane Lopez, a 2019 State qualifier, and a multiple time Sectional qualifier. At the 2019 State meet, Lopez placed 111th with a time of 20:26.7 out of 170 runners.

Junior Myah Hough is a returning multiple-time Sectional qualifier and 2018 State qualifier and will be a critical part of the team's success this fall.

Smith also said that Kaia Cobleigh, Skyla Sein, Lexi Curl, Ella Johnson, Parker Anthony, Hannah Nordmeyer, Macie Fisher, Maddie Jay, and Bailey Joiner are other girls that have put in a ton of work this season and are all looking for a big season this year.

"We had 12 girls run over 150 miles this summer," said Smith. "Our girl mileage leaders for the summer are Juliane and Myah at over 260 miles. We are hoping this will translate directly to success this season.

"This girls' team is very talented, and I have huge expectations for them this year. I wouldn't be surprised to see them running in Columbia at the State meet in November."

On the boys' side, the team returns three critical seniors in Luis Pedroza Vasquez (2019 Sectional Qualifier, All-Ozark Conference), Angel Pedroza Vasquez (2019 Sectional Qualifier, All-Ozark Conference), and Cael Schmitz (multiple time Sectional qualifier).

"We had 11 guys run over 150 miles this summer with our top guy being Josh Zachary at 260," Smith stated. "The guys are making the turn to be an outstanding team. We have great leadership, hard workers, and talent on this team. We have the kind of talent to do tremendous things, including qualify for State."

Smith said his team in 2019 didn't quite live up to his expectations but hoped the team could build off those results and make this a solid season.

"Last year was pretty good," he said. "It didn't quite live up to the standard we wanted. We met a rough patch toward the middle of the season where our mental toughness wasn't where we wanted it to be, so that has been our focus this summer, and we will be better at it this year."

The lone home meet for the team will be at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 12, at the new Nelson Park. Smith mentioned there would be many teams in attendance, food trucks, a solid atmosphere, and the team will be practicing social distancing and wearing masks when around spectators.

Softball team expecting a big season in 2020

ALEX BOYER

ALEX@LACLEDERE.CORP.COM

This year's expectations are high in Lebanon for the softball program as the team fell 15-0 in the Class 4 District 9 championship game to Rolla last fall.

The Yellowjackets will be led by seniors Nicole Truitt, Regan Hathaway, and Shelby Bybee after graduating just two seniors last year.

Truitt, a three-time All-Ozark Conference, and All-District performer is coming off a year where she hit .435 on the season with 21 runs scored, will begin the season in the outfield while Bybee will also see time in the outfield, and Hathaway will be at second base for LHS.

"Nicole brings a lot to the table, including great hitting, fielding, and foot speed," head coach Stan Crum stated. "Hathaway had a tremendous summer for us, and I expect big things from her this season, and I am expecting Bybee to compete for some time in the outfield with several other players."

The team this year features plenty of depth, according to Crum.

"That is a double-edged sword (having too much depth)," he said. "With a lot of talented players, it will be hard to manage playing time to ensure that we continue to prepare for postseason play and future seasons."

Returning to the circle this season will be junior Katie Schneider, who finished 2019 with an 8-9 W-L record and a 6.87 ERA with over 89.2 innings pitched. Crum mentioned that Schneider would see lots of time at third base and catcher, too.

"She (Schneider) is a versatile player with All-Conference type skills at each position," he said. "She has hit the ball extremely well this summer, and I am excited to see what she can bring to the team this fall."

McKenzie Lowrance returns as the other junior on the team this year after earning postseason honors as a sophomore as a designated player. Crum said that she hit the ball well last season and continued that trend during summer ball play.

The talented sophomore class for the Yellowjackets that saw a lot of time at the varsity level last season will be critical for the team's success. Leading the class is sophomore shortstop Raegan McCowan who led the team in home runs and RBIs a year ago.

Sophomores Cailyn Wilbanks, Ani Becker, and Taylor Rodden return to the lineup and will continue their success from their freshmen seasons.

"Wilbanks is a speedy outfielder that hits in the lead-off spot for us," mentioned Crum. "She was near the top of our team last season in runs scored and stolen bases. She has worked very hard in the offseason to develop her slapping skills, which will make her a potent on-base threat at the beginning of the lineup.

"Becker earned postseason honors after a steady season behind the plate and a great hitting season. She was a .440 plus hitter that drove in some big runs for us throughout the season. Rodden anchored the defense at first base and provided a steadying influence for our other infielders. With her great reach, she saves a lot of throws that would be errors for first basemen with less of a wingspan and provides some power at the plate."

Other sophomores that will compete for playing time in the fall will be Makayla Dawson, Payton Jewell, and Gracie Waterman.

"Dawson was the team leader last season in both runs scored and stolen bases," Crum stated. "She has worked extremely hard on her overall game during the off-season, and the improvement she showed over last season was remarkable."

"Waterman will compete for a position in the outfield. She has a good throwing arm and has the capability to become a great hitter. Jewell is one of our better base runners whom I had called upon regularly last season to come into the game in tight situations when we needed a run, and she came through often. Peyton will compete for time in a middle infield position."

Freshman Kam Luthy will see a majority of time in the circle for LHS this fall and will be a massive part of the success for the 'Jackets.

Other newcomers that could make an impact during their first year will be Brooklyn O'Cain, McKinley Rodden, Halea Bartel, Kyhla Boggs, Kameron Compton, and Abbie Dickenson.

"The future looks bright, and if we can maintain a good team atmosphere where everybody buys into the team concept, we could enjoy great success the next several seasons," Crum said.

A new addition to Yellowjacket Stadium was made during the summer with the addition of field lights, as the team had been unable to play at night time due to not being able to see. Crum was thankful for the support of the community.

"There aren't enough words to express how thankful we (the softball program) are for the cooperation from the entire community," he said. "I wish I had time to go down a list to thank everyone that helped, but that would take forever. Everyone knows who they are who contributed, and it was a true community effort to bring this softball field together, and we finally put the icing on top of the cake with these new lights."

Lebanon hosted Stoutland in the first game of their season on Aug. 28 at Yellowjacket Stadium.

The Tigers are coming off a Final Four run from a year ago in Missouri Class 1.

Young tennis team hoping for solid season

ALEX BOYER

ALEX@LACLEDERECORD.COM

The Lebanon girls' tennis team is having to replace a deep senior class from last year that contributed to four winning seasons. The Lady 'Jackets said goodbye to key seniors in Danessa Howe, Skyley Maynor, Ashton Arthur, Ally Gerant, and Kylie Fletcher. The team finished the year at 10-10 for their seventh straight season at being .500 or better.

"We had some fantastic wins; we beat Columbia Hickman, Camdenton, Waynesville, and Rolla," head coach Ron Crowell said. "They won the Branson Tournament. The team finished 4th in the Ozark Conference, and they competed very well at Districts, where they almost beat an undefeated Willard team.

"Danessa Howe had a great year at #1 singles, and she advanced to the Sectionals."

Lebanon returns just one player from last year's varsity squad in Jasmine White. Still, Crowell mentioned that older players in Abbey Tweenter, Haley McBride, and Hannah Henson have the potential to help the team out at the varsity level.

Crowell said the team hasn't talked about many expectations yet due to the uncertainty of what might happen this fall but is hoping for a solid season.

"My only expectation this year is to improve every day and enjoy playing tennis," he stated. "We are super excited to get to play with all of the craziness with the COVID-19. We have 32 players out for tennis this year, and we are a very young team. I believe 24 of our players are either freshmen or sophomores.

"The future is bright, but we did graduate a lot last year. Our goal is to compete every day, get better, and hopefully, we will win some while we are doing that."

The younger players that Crowell talked about include a host of players who are looking to help the team at the varsity level this fall. Those players include sophomores Payton Fuller, Paityn

Hudson, Emma Blair, Gracie Uder, and Reagan Tucker. While Kelsey Daugherty, Brooklyn Arthur, Carly Miller, and Adali Hendrix are leading a strong freshman class.

Crowell also spoke about the challenges of dealing with health screenings and ensuring his team is practicing social distancing.

"I never thought I would be health screening players before practice," he said. "The good news for tennis is that it is a relatively easy sport to social distance, but it is a challenge with 32 players. The kids have been fantastic about following our protocols, and now that we are in a routine, we don't think about it too much.

"We social distance during water breaks, and we can social distance the entire practice. The team is spread out over six courts, and I just talk a little louder so everyone can hear me. I am truly proud of this group for how they have handled the health protocols we have in place."

Crowell said there are still a few things he is hoping the team can clean up and improve on as the season prepares to get underway.

"We have so many beginning and second-year players that our entire focus is on basic fundamentals and getting them in good habits," he said. "We are focused on developing our topspin forehand and backhand and getting those shots to where they are muscle memory. We take 20-25 minutes every day to develop their serve, and we are now starting to transition from skill work to match play where they will begin playing for their spots.

"That process will start this week. We have a lot to work on, but they made great strides this first week, and I am very proud of this group."

The team kicked off its season on Aug. 28 at a tournament in Jefferson City. They will host Springfield Central on Sept. 1 for their first home meet of the season.

Golf team ready to hit the links

Coach Darnell says the team is focusing on improving players' short game

ALEX BOYER

ALEX@LACLEDERECORD.COM

A year after the LHS girls' golf team had three members qualify for Sectionals, there will be some new and familiar faces at the top of the ranks for the team.

Heading into 2020, the team graduated two of its top players in Ashlynn Leochner and Halle Brown, who was a Sectional qualifier.

"Last season was solid for us," head coach Lindsay Darnell said. "We advanced to Sectionals and took a few girls there, so that was good."

Darnell says that the past season was the "most successful season" since she began coaching the girls' golf team.

"We had a few varsity wins, and a couple of JV tournament wins, so it was good to see the girls improving," she said.

The team consists of three seniors, including Claudia Becker, Addison Segebarth, and Emma Allen.

"The three seniors are all starting varsity so far," Darnell mentioned.

"They are wonderful team leaders who come ready to work every day, and we are expecting big things from the three of them throughout the entirety of the season."

Lebanon will have two juniors starting in the varsity lineup this fall, including Jaylyn Allen and Kendra Peltzer.

"They (Allen and Peltzer) have put in some time this summer, and it has really paid off for them," Darnell said. "I think these two could help us have a very promising team this year, and I hope we get to have a postseason this year with everything that is going on in the world because I think we have some girls who could be successful there this season.

"Jaylyn hits the ball a long way, and we are looking forward to seeing how she does this year in match play."

Amid a global coronavirus pandemic, Darnell said that it hasn't really affected her team, as golf is one of the easier sports to distance yourself from others while you play.

"Of all the sports, it has probably impacted us the least amount," she said. "We are already socially distanced; we just need to be careful when we are meeting that we are spread out, and we have been doing our temperature screenings and questionnaire before every practice."

Heading into the season, Darnell mentioned she would like to see some of the team improve on their short game around the greens.

"We are definitely focusing on our short game," she stated. "I feel like this group enjoys going to the driving range and hitting with the bigger clubs, but we want to focus on our putting and chipping to shave a few more strokes off to make us even better."

The girls' home opener was on Sept. 1, at GreatLife Golf and Fitness.

High expectations for Lebanon volleyball in 2020

ALEX BOYER

ALEX@LACLEDERE.CORP.COM

The Lebanon High School volleyball program continues to succeed under head coach Jenny Collins, as the Yellowjackets finished 17-15-2 in 2019. It now marks six consecutive seasons that the varsity team has won at least 17 matches in a year.

The team came close to upsetting No. 2 seeded Camdenton in the semifinal round of the Missouri Class 4 District 9 tournament but fell short in three sets. Now, the team must replace four All-Ozark Conference selections and eight total seniors.

"Five of the seniors were part of the lineup in 2018, so we had a lot of gameplay experience going into the season (in 2019)," Collins stated. "For that group of five who played two years at the varsity level, they helped tally 30 wins."

Heading into 2020, Collins is expecting her team to be relentless this fall in their defensive efforts.

"We take a lot of pride in our defense and spend a lot of time being the best defensive team that we can be," she said. "We have several players who aren't afraid of the defensive grind and own the bragging rights of the floor burns and bruises along the way. I expect us to compete every time we step out on the floor.

"We play a very tough schedule, so it will be important for us to be prepared and give ourselves opportunities to be on the offensive side of the ball more often than we are defensive side."

New rules that will be applied to the varsity level this season will be the sets moving from the best two-out-of-three format to a best three-out-of-five.

"With the COVID guidelines placed upon us this summer, it has been challenging to truly prepare especially to meet the physical demands of a five-set possibility," Collins said. "Looking forward, I think it is going to give more kids a chance at playing time as it will be a longer match and will better prepare those athletes who inspire to play collegiately. It will be important for us to keep kids healthy and not over-used.

"This playing format will make for long nights during the week and will take away from sleep, and academic study time, so it will be important for us as coaches to help our athletes balance all of the load placed upon them."

Heading into the season, Collins would like to shore up some things, but for the most part, she likes what she sees in this group of players.

"With four players at nearly 6'0", we have more height at the net than what we have had in past seasons," she said. "We are going to work very hard on hitter transitions that will help speed up our offense and gain confidence in hitter abilities at the net. We have three setters who are very capable of running the team at the varsity level, but we are continuing to work with each of them to develop strong leadership skills and build trust amongst their hitters.

"They have to become a "big picture" player and make plays that support those efforts."

The team opened its season up on Aug. 29 at the Branson tournament. The home opener was on Sept. 1.

LHS football hopes to win district championship

Jackets finished with a 9-3 record for the second year in a row in 2019

ALEX BOYER

ALEX@LACLEDERECORD.COM

After finishing 9-3 for its second consecutive season, long-time Lebanon head football coach Will Christian knows that the expectations will continue being high for the football program heading into 2020.

Last year, Lebanon fell to Camden in the Missouri Class 4 District 5 finals by a lopsided score of 35-7. It graduated 12 total starters and 19 letterwinners from last year's team, including two all-state selections in Mason DeVasure (first-team OL) and Trevor Christian (third-team LB). The team was also state-ranked throughout every week of the season.

Christian sports a 98-66 head coaching record in Lebanon and will look to build on that heading into 2020 with some key returners coming back this fall.

"Returning a nice group of kids who have experienced three-straight eight-plus win seasons, expectations remain high," he said. "We feel like we have a great mix, and we feel each class brings great value to the group. As always, kids will have to step up into new roles, and we will have to work very hard."

Senior running back Isaac Ledbetter will be the top returning player for the Lebanon football team this fall after earning All-Ozark Conference 2nd team honors a year ago after appearing in 12 games.

On the defensive side of the ball, seniors Drew McBride (linebacker), Cordell Zebel (safety), and Dalton Wagner (defensive tackle) return as the mainstays on defense.

McBride was a second-team all-conference linebacker in 2019.

Zack Rose (defensive tackle), Jake Henson (linebacker), Walker McDermott (cornerback), and Antonio Rogers (linebacker/safety/running back) will also be key returners this fall.

Seniors Hunter Honey (tight end), Zach Cheever (defensive back), Donovan Little (inside linebacker), Presley Cottongim (defensive end), Hunter Henry (left guard), and Austin Frye (right tackle) will be seeing a significant increase in playing time.

Junior quarterback Peyton Mitchell will take over the reins for LHS this fall.

Mitchell has looked poised through the jamboree and practices as he will replace Curtis Mobley at an important position.

"Peyton has the traits necessary to be an outstanding quarterback," Christian said after the jamboree. "He is a great leader, intelligent, confident, and athletic."

Other key juniors include Sam Cooper (inside linebacker), Rain Shockley (defensive end), Andrew Dent (defensive back), Jamarr Rogers (defensive back), Collin Wilson (defensive back), Justin Dameron (outside linebacker), Ty O'Neil (defensive back), Max Groce (defensive back), Logan Lybarger (running back), Drew Shadel (defensive end), Terrence Jones (running back), Bo Rosen (outside linebacker), Mason Farris (running back), Samuel Davidson (inside linebacker), Connor Brand (inside linebacker), Colt Heisz (inside linebacker), Caden Brown (defensive end), Sam Haney (defensive end), Tim Pruitt (offensive line) and Dustin Sanders (defensive end).

Sophomores Cade Muscia, Jacoby Fultz, and Nathan Bartell will be newcomers who see a significant amount of playing time.

Christian mentioned the strengths and weaknesses of the team heading into week one.

"We are returning a solid core on the offensive line," he said. "We are excited about our depth and competition at each position due to that depth," Christian said. "Losing several kids always hurts as we do every year, but we have some unproven parts that will have to show what they can do on Friday nights."

The Yellowjackets traveled to Hillcrest for week one on Aug. 28 and will host Kickapoo for their home opener on Sept. 4.

Swim team hoping to send more swimmers back to State

ALEX BOYER

ALEX@LACLEDERECORD.COM

In 2019, the Lebanon High School boys' swim team capped off their best season in program history by sending the first two swimmers to the State swim meet.

Sophomore Dakota Windsor and junior Caleb Whittington became the first two boy swimmers in school history to qualify for the prestigious State meet.

At State, Windsor swam in two events but set a new school record in the 200 IM with a time of 2:06.23 while Whittington swam in the 100 butterfly race in St. Peters.

Head coach David Krev is excited to see what his group can do this year.

"We have eight returning swimmers this year," he stated. "Our returning State qualifier swimmers are back this year, and so far, they have looked good."

This year, returning to the team will be senior Thomas Butler, juniors Reed Danek, Trystan Presley, and Greg Keen.

"These four have put in a lot of work this offseason and have gotten better," Krev said. "I will be looking forward to seeing how they can contribute to the team."

Freshman Matthew Wall will be a crucial component to this year's success, too.

"We lost three seniors from a year ago, and we replaced them with one freshman, so we are a little small team-wise," said Krev. "We are a hard-working team who wants to be the best we can be."

As most other sports are dealing with having to maintain social distancing due to COVID-19, the swim team might have it the easiest out of all the sports.

"It has been extremely easy for us since we are in a pool, and chlorine pretty much kills everything," Krev stated. "I am lucky because as soon as they get in the water and I am out of the pool, we are six feet away. Then they are in a pool antibacterial solution.

"I just have to worry about them staying six feet apart whenever they jump out of the pool, but the kids have done a great job about making sure they are staying distanced. Our biggest concern is whenever we go to a meet."

In events that the team will be strong in this fall, Krev mentioned the medley relay, 200 freestyle, and 400 freestyle.

"It could be an interesting year this year," he said. "A lot of these guys have worked on improving their times and have done a great job.

"We are still working on our speed. Most of our guys have their fundamentals down, but we are fine-tuning everything. We aren't teaching them how to do it, they just need to work on their speed a little bit, and then I think they will be ready to go.

The first match for the swim team was set for Sept. 1 at Carthage High School.

Lebanon soccer hoping to build off success

ALEX BOYER

ALEX@LACLEDERECORD.COM

The Lebanon High School boys' soccer team is coming off a record-setting year in 2019.

After breaking numerous program records such as most wins in a season (17), most shutouts in a season (nine), first-ever appearance in a district championship game, and many more, the team will be looking to continue that success in 2020.

"We broke a lot of records last year, but more than that, they were a great group of kids and a lot of fun," head coach Matt Jernigan said. "We won a lot of tight games last year, and I think that came from our leadership quality."

Before falling to the Glendale Falcons in the finals, the team defeated West Plains in the district semifinal.

Expectations will be higher than ever before heading into 2020, as the team brings back nine of their 11 varsity starters from a year ago for a team that won double-digit games for the first time since 2013.

Leading the way this year will be senior forward Zach Richards.

Earning all-state honors as a junior, Richards netted a school-record 35 goals and added 11 assists. Richards now owns the program record for career goals (70) and career assists (23).

"I feel like he is one of the better scorers and players in southwest Missouri," Jernigan said of Richards. "He is looking to add to his career records this year. He hasn't gotten to do his normal club stuff during the summer with COVID going on, so I think he is more excited about high school season this year."

Also returning to the pitch will be twin seniors Angel and Luis Pedroza.

"Angel will be making the move to the defense this year," Jernigan said. "Luis is an All-Ozark Conference player who will return to the midfield for us and is a great playmaker in the middle of the field."

Also, in the middle of the field alongside Luis, will be junior Ryder Rhodes.

"Ryder is a smart player in the midfield," Jernigan stated. "He controls the game and has a great ability to get stops one-on-one. We are looking for him to be a leader as well."

Lebanon's backline features three experienced seniors in Evan Rogers, Austin Barber, and Cameron Fisher.

Rogers and Fisher are three-year starters.

"(Rogers) is able to make great runs out of the defense and get us into the attack," Jernigan said. "(Fisher) has been a rock in our defense for three years. He will be playing center back and will need to have a big year in order for us to achieve our goals.

"Barber is a strong player and will be a big part of our defense."

Alongside Richards up top will be junior Quinton Doughty. He finished the 2019 season with one goal and three assists.

"Quinton has great speed and will give us a second threat to take some pressure off of Zach," Jernigan said.

We're on the sidelines to keep them on the field.

After graduating standout goalkeeper Zach Jamieson, the team will depend on senior Jace West and sophomore Clayton Frazier to replace him in goal.

"Jace has been our JV keeper for three years," said Jernigan. "He has been playing well in goal this first week of practice and will try to earn some time at that varsity spot. Clayton is ridiculously athletic and reminds me of an early Zach Jamieson.

"At the beginning of the year, we might split some time and see who steps up. It is a hard role to fill."

Also expected to see some playing time this fall with be juniors Matthew Hilton and Austin Westerlund.

The team has been through a lot of this off-season dealing with the pandemic and two significant injuries to the team.

"We had some Zoom meetings, and the guys were doing workouts individually," Jernigan said. "This summer, we opened up and had some games like we normally do, but we know it can be the last day every day.

"Junior defender Austin Durden broke his ankle during a summer match and had to have plates and screws inserted. I think most of the community of Lebanon knows about the accident with Micah Veanes. We can't wait until he is able to come home from Galveston (Texas) and be with his team."

Jernigan was unable to make the first few days of practice but mentioned that assistant coach Jacob Woolsey stepped up nicely and filled his absence.

"A lot of coaches don't have the luxury of someone stepping up for them, but I had surgery the first day of practice," he mentioned. "I don't even know if the boys even noticed because Jacob did an excellent job getting them going.

"The boys trust him and love him. They embraced him being the head coach for a while."

Lebanon was slated to play Bolivar, Camdenton, and host Branson in a jamboree on Aug. 24. The Yellowjackets were also scheduled to open up the regular season Aug. 28-29 in their home tournament. The team also was set to host Crocker on Sept. 1.

Coach: Cross Country team 'off to a good start'

ALEX BOYER

ALEX@LACLEDERECORD.COM

Cross Country, as a whole in Missouri, has gone from four classes to five classes for the 2020 season. A school, the size of Conway, figures to be either a small Missouri Class 3 school or one of the bigger Missouri Class 2 schools.

Both the Bears and Lady Bears teams had their fair share of success in competition last season.

"Our boy's team had a good year," head coach Andrew Lowery said. "We got first at the Fair Grove meet, second at our home meet and conference; then many third or fourth place finishes as a team.

"Andrew (Dame) graduated, and he will be missed from the team this year. Andrew and Trey (Earls) usually medaled in the meets. Andrew won the Fair Grove and Conference meet last year. Trey was usually right between him too. For the boys' team, I would like to see them keep working hard and improving and try to make a run at conference and districts. For Trey, his goal is to be All-State and try to break 17 minutes."

Gracie Vestal, Jamison Cromer, and Graceson Cromer are names to look out for this fall on the girls' side.

Conway volleyball team has experienced players

ALEX BOYER
ALEX@LACLEDERECORD.COM

The Conway High School volleyball program will look to continue its recent success under head coach Tammy Beckler. The Bears finished 14-14-3 in 2019.

The Lady Bears season came to an end in the semifinal round of the Missouri Class 2 District 9 tournament losing to the Licking Wildcats. Licking went on to finish 3rd place at the Class 2 state tournament.

“Last season was definitely a growing year,” according to Beckler. “We had a unique blend of only having juniors and freshmen on the roster. We played mostly to our ability, but I felt we weren’t mentally able to compete with strong teams consistently.”

The Lady Bears had a unique situation last season where all their players were freshmen or juniors.

Expectations are high for the program this year as they return their entire roster.

“We are capable of a winning season of 20 or more matches,” Beckler stated. “We should be good enough to be a contender for a district title.

“We are good enough to finish in the top four of all our tournaments.”

Conway Baseball Bears look forward to fall season

ALEX BOYER
ALEX@LACLEDERECORD.COM

The Conway Bears are looking towards this upcoming spring season. Schools who don't have football get a fall baseball season like a Spring Training of sorts in the MLB.

Head coach Clay Bilyeu is thankful for this chance to get to play some games months before having to compete in district and state tournament play.

"We are replacing the bulk of our pitching staff, so we really get to see what they can do," he said. "It's great to have the opportunity to do that in the fall."

The Bears have a rich baseball tradition under Bilyeu, which includes trips to the state baseball final four in 2008 and 2010. Unfortunately, the Bears missed out on their spring season last year due to COVID-19, but did get to compete in around 14 games this summer.

"We had 18 kids out this summer, so basically our whole crew that we will have this fall playing, and it was great since we are replacing so many pieces, to kind of get to start to see that," he said. "Tough thing was we were not really getting to practice daily and getting those at-bats and daily swings. We were definitely trying to limit our pitchers' number of pitches, so you didn't get a full view of what they are going to do, but we got a glimpse."

The baseball Bears will look to replace six seniors with all-conference selections and their top two starting pitchers and their middle infielders.

"We are losing our middle infielders who have been a couple of guys for the last few years," Bilyeu said. "We have got new guys who are new to the varsity level coming in and playing there, so that's important. Hopefully, these guys can get to where they don't feel like rookies anymore by the time the spring season comes around."

A significant advantage of this year's team will be pitching depth.

"We got six or seven guys who we are comfortable with throwing, that can throw strikes and give us competitive innings," Bilyeu stated.

Conway traveled to Gainesville for the first game of their season on Aug. 28.

Volleyball

Depth should be a welcomed benefit to the Lady Bears team this season, with many players capable of gaining playing time. Conway is looking to use their work ethic as another positive team trait this season.

"I like that I know what to expect from these kids," Beckler mentioned. "I know they want to be here and that they want to get better. They are hard on themselves and want not just to be good; they want to be awesome. They praise each other, and they love to compete with and against each other.

"Someone hits the ball really hard, and the next girl tries to hit it harder. The freshmen improve because the older girls are pushing them to be better. We need consistency on defense and confidence in a quick offense."

The team opened its season up on Sept. 1 on the road against the Mountain Grove Panthers.

The home opener for the Lady Bears will be on Sept. 17 vs. the Houston Tigers.

Cross country

"The girl's team had a good year too," said Lowery. "Gracie and Graceson Cromer usually ran very well together, and then Jamison Cromer was close between them. Those girls also earned some medals too last year. For everyone, I would like to see everyone improve and just kept getting faster and improve their teams.

"For the girl's team, I would like to see them win the conference and qualify for state as a team. And have multiple individual qualifiers for state too."

Some experienced runners lead the Bears, and some newcomers are looking to give the team a boost in team scores. Included below is what Coach Lowery had to say about some of his leaders and newcomers.

The Bears have been hard at work all summer and in the early practice stages of this year.

"We have gotten off to a good start," mentioned Lowery. "So far overall, they are looking good at practice. We have a lot of talent this year, and I think they can do some great things this season if they all put their minds to it. Hopefully, as the season goes, we can learn better ways to race and run our best at the end of the season."

The Conway Cross Country team opens its 2020 campaigns on Saturday, Sept. 5, at Fellows Lake, hosted by the Strafford Indians.
